

Fridays Games by Tony, Tom & Steve

Officially, Jumpi apologizes for not having enough Vino Rosso on Thursday night, suggesting that the plebians under him failed to satisfy the thirsty crowds and will be executed. For anyone who came to Paganello last year, today was also an apology for the weather of the 2008 event. A tad foggy but generally we were all blessed with what could be arguably called perfect Ultimate weather. The Open division went to plan unfortunately making a slow news day for us. The crowd were enthused and baying for an upset in the early Boracay vs Scandal clash. The match started off close to 5s before Scandal was able to pull away without difficulty. The Dragons did still provide a fulfilling dose of the dynamic style of play for the cheering crowd, complimented by Paga love child Suetonius' freakish height and facial fur. The Dragons first created interest with their unexpected finals appearance more than a year ago in Maceio Brazil. Seeded an almost intentionally humble 25th they will have to overcome mismatches and the cold weather to continue their dark horse run through the early stages of the tournament. In the Arena fans got to see the French Friselis take an 11-9 over the Finns on Hattitwat until Hattitwat brought it to 11s, next point wins. After a Friselis turnover, Hatti had the disc to win but could not and Friselis escaped to win. Tomorrow both teams will move up to play Los Ox and UTI.

In the Women's division, the favourites stayed on top, although fourth seeded The Have needed double game point to escape the Spanish-Japanese Nadeshiko. The Have are a phoenix from the ashes of a series of top British female Paganello champions including Bliss and Cake or Death. Top seed "That's It" remained on top and even recruited a young bambina, 12 years old, from Bologna to play with them. However the girl decided to stay with the Bologna juniors team. Word from Fatima on "That's It" is that their name comes from the comedian/musicians Flight of the Conchords' song Business Time. The girls of Super Hot Pot would like to make it crystal clear that the word Pot is NOT short for Potato. Under no circumstances should anyone refer to them as this delicious food or shout from the sideline "Go Potatos!".

One of the Tantias from the Ukrainian Dyki Kralli normally plays for a team in Bagdad and regularly has practice during extreme dust storms that normally keep regular dwellers of Iraq sealed into their homes. We're thinking she'll be the one to watch if our sunny Paga weather takes a turn for the worst.

In Mixed, Czech's Yellow Fever had the upset of the day over the Arrrrr pirates. Ireland's 23rd seed Binge nearly pulled off a move to the upper pools by beating Ah Ou Puc, but point differential with them and Sugar Mix favored the Germans by a single point, and so Sugar Mix and Ah Ou Puc advanced and Ireland was relegated. Disc-O-Fever seeded bottom of their pool at an unassuming 28th seed managed to rock the boat upsetting Shocker and Morning Glory to finish one below regulars Huck Finn. Their green and yellow jump suits are apparently the source of their power. The 13th seeded Lamantino Tonante embraced the spirit of Paganello far earlier that most plummeting down to the 29th position.

Tech Noir fought hard by overcoming a three-goal deficit to tie Flugsaurier at game point before a patient Austrian team worked the disc in effectively for the win. Both teams now face the defending champions Huck Finn in the upper pool.

The Russian Shadows surprised eight-seeded Hardfisch with a 12-8 win. Their women's team Sharks also played well.

The self-annointed "idiots" of BlockStack TV were seen out and about filming and reporting on anything and everything for the day 1 episode for the Paganello Live part of the website and are apparently poised for another SeXXX-pensive night out. Look for them this morning glazed and sporting a perpetual Paganello smile.

you are free and encouraged to dress up and disguise yourself accordingly.

The bacchanalia were wild and mystic festivals of the Roman god Bacchus. Introduced into Rome from lower Italy (around 200 BC), the bacchanalia were originally held in secret and only attended by women.

Later, admission to the rites was extended to men.

According to Livy, the festivals occurred in the grove of Pataccus on the Adriatic beach of Ariminum.

Tomorrow: results and teams for the finals!

Claudio Cigna

Rules clarification: "PAGA-RULES"

TIME AND END OF THE GAME

All games except for the finals: the time is over after 35 minutes (40 for the finals except for 1st place): NO HALF TIME, NO POINT LIMITS

(this rule overwrites what stated in the WFDF/BULA booklet about point limit and half time)

"PAGA-CAP"

When time is over, the point must be finished - if the time finishes between two points (i.e. when the teams are on the lines or are lining up), the point to be finished is the one still to be played - in other words, as soon as a point is scored (or, in the case of a discussion, acknowledged), the next point begins: walking back, making substitutions and lining up are all part of the next point

After this last point is finished, the score to reach to win the game is always determined by summing two points to the current leading team's score, no matter what the point gap between teams is the fraction of game played after this moment is named cap, that is therefore played always and in any case.

e.g.: (after the time is over and the point is finished)

TEAM A - TEAM B 11-3: the game is to 13

TEAM A - TEAM B 10-8: the game is to 12.

TEAM A - TEAM B 7-7: the game is to 9.
